1.0 Executive Summary

The purpose of this business plan is to raise and examine the allocation of $250,000 for the continued development and expansion of a specialty toy manufacturing and distribution business based in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Real Man Design, Inc. ("the Company" doing as TOOB-TOSS) intends to initially produce 10,000 units of its patented spring-assisted throw-and-catch toy that can be used indoors or outdoors (patent #7,662,012 B2). The business was founded by Cory Hoffman and Eric Wright. Revenue generating operations are expected to commence within the second quarter of 2018.

The Founders – Cory Hoffman and Eric Wright

Cory Hoffman and Eric Wright are highly experienced businesspeople that will be able to guide this business to profitability over the next five years. Mr. Hoffman is a business professional that has extensive entrepreneurial experience. Mr. Wright is an engineer by trade, and he also has substantial business managerial experience. Their biographies can be found in the fourth section of the business plan.

The TOOB-TOSS Product Line

As stated above, the TOOB-TOSS is a patented product that allows people of any age, ability, or skill level to throw this spring-assisted device. Although it can be used easily, it does take time to master it. It is a safe and affordable product.

The Company will use a number of sales channels for the TOOB-TOSS product line. This includes ongoing purchase order relationships with major big-box retailers, ongoing relationships with overseas wholesalers/distributors, and online sales channels (both through the Company's proprietary website and third party sales channels).

The product sold by the Company will be further discussed in the third section of the business plan.

The Financing

At this time, Management is seeking to sell a negotiable equity interest in the business in exchange for the $250,000 of requisite capital sought in this business plan.

The funds are required for the following:

- Acquisition of inventory from third-party manufacturers.
- Cash for maintaining normal business operations
- Location development
- General furniture, fixtures, and equipment

The second section of the business plan will further discuss the usage of investment funds.

Sales Forecasts

The Company anticipates a strong rate of growth upon the commencement of revenue generating operations. Below is a chart that exemplifies Management's vision for growth during the next five years of operations.

The Future

As time progresses, the Company will continue to develop new promotional and advertising campaigns to further drive new sales of the Company's TOOB-TOSS product line. Additionally, the Company may continually add new and improved products to the Real Man Design' line of products to expand the business organically. The seventh section of the business plan will further describe the extensive marketing campaigns that the Company will use to promote the Company's products and brand names.

2.0 The Financing

2.1 Funds Required

The business will require a cash inflow of $250,000 to properly expand and maintain its manufacturing, wholesale, and retail trading operations (with the products discussed in the next section of the business plan). Below is a brief breakdown of how the funds will be allocated:

Projected Startup Costs
Initial Inventory	$150,000
General Furniture, Fixtures, and Equipment	$25,000
Facility Development	$15,000
Working Capital	$52,500
Professional Fees and Licensure	$5,000
Misc. Development Costs	$2,500
Total Startup Costs	$250,000

2.2 Investor Equity

This will be discussed during negotiations.

2.3 Management Equity

This will be discussed during negotiations.

2.4 Board of Directors Composition

This will be discussed during negotiations.

2.5 Exit Strategies

The Management has discussed and planned for a possible exit strategy. The strategy would be to sell Real Man Design, Inc. to a larger entity at a significant premium. Since, the toy manufacturing and distribution industry maintains a moderate risk profile; the Management feels that the Company could be sold for five to seven times earnings.

3.0 The TOOB-TOSS Product Line

As stated in the executive summary, TOOB-TOSS is a revolutionary, affordable toy that can be used indoors or outdoors for hours of healthy physical activity. The product can be used by people of all ages, skill sets, and physical abilities. While it is easy to use the TOOB-TOSS product line, it does take time and practice to master the toy. The business maintains a patent on the product line (patent number 7,622,012 B12). The TOOB-TOSS product line will have a retail sales price of $19.99 to $24.99. The wholesale price of the product will be $10 to $12 per unit. The manufacturing cost is $4 to $6.

The device itself is a 3D compressible hollow object about the size of a football. The nylon sleeve wraps around a spring that compresses the tube. This patented design allows for the Venturi effect for throwing a flight stabilization. It is weather safe. The patented nature of the Company's product line will allow for substantial licensing abilities including embossing the logos of universities/colleges, corporations, and characters on the nylon sleeve portion of the product. Mr. Wright is the inventor and patent holder of the TOOB-TOSS product. The Company has received substantial interest among a number of different companies to act as the manufacturer and supply chain management firm for Real Man Design, Inc.

As will be discussed further in this document, the Company will use multiple sales channels in order to distribute the Company's product line. Foremost, the business will develop ongoing purchase order relationships with major retailers throughout the United States and abroad. Real Man Design, Inc. will also maintain extensive online sales platforms (both proprietary and through third party channels) that will ensure maximum inventory turnover from the onset of sales operations. The marketing and distribution channels to be used by the business will be further discussed in the seventh section of the business plan.

5.0 Strategic Analysis

5.1 External Environment Analysis

The business of toys and sporting oriented merchandise is a complex business that has significantly difficult operations to manage. This section of analysis will detail the overall economic climate and interest rate environment. Management feels that this analysis is often overlooked by many businesses, and as Real Man Design is in the toy and sporting products business – changes in interest rates and the political/economic environment can impact the costs of doing business.

Currently, the outlook of the US economy is moderate. Unemployment rates have declined while asset prices have risen substantially. Interest rates have remained low despite substantial increases in economic productivity and rises in asset values. As such, people have more money to spend on discretionary goods.

Inflation is somewhat of a concern for the Company. As the inflation rate decreases, the purchasing power parity of the American dollar decreases in relation to other currencies. This may pose a significant risk to the Company should rampant inflation, much like the inflation experienced in the late 1970s, occur again. This event would significantly weaken the Company's ability to borrow funds, but also would severely impact the gross margins of the business. Real Man Design, Inc. intends to do a significant amount of business with overseas suppliers and vendors. Recent economic reports released by the US Federal Reserve indicate that inflation may be on the rise as the unemployment of the US has decreased over the last two years.

5.2 Industry Analysis

The aggregate sale of manufacture red athletic goods in the United States is a $8 billion a year business. As of the last economic census, the industry employed more than 40,000 people working among 1,400 companies.

This is a mature industry, and the expected future growth rate of the industry will remain in lockstep with that of the general economy.

5.3 Customer Profile

Among individuals that will purchase the Company's TOOB-TOSS product line, Management has identified the following common characteristics:

- Annual income of $35,000+ per year
- Has a child/adolescent that enjoys remaining active outdoors
- Will spend $20 to $24 on the TOOB-TOSS product line, as it is fun as safe for everyone.

There are more than 150 million Americans that fall into the above demographic profile. As such, the market for the Company's product lines as it relates to games and sports activities is immense.

5.4 Competitive Analysis

As the Company has developed a proprietary product line, it is difficult to determine the competition that the business will face as it progresses through its operations. At this time, there is no other company that produces the unique spring-assisted tossed device game. Additionally, the Company has seventeen years of patent protection on all the products offered by the business.

Despite patent protection on the product lines offered by the business, it is imperative that the Company will engage a high impact marketing campaign to ensure that the brand names becomes highly recognized within the first three years of operation.

Major toy manufacturers that could develop a product line similar to TOOB-TOSS include:

- Hasbro
- Namco Bandai
- JAKKS
- Nerf
- Fisher Price

6.0 Key Strategic Issues

6.1 Sustainable Competitive Advantage

The Company will be able to maintain successful business operations because of the following:

- Price all merchandise at no lower than 200% markup over direct acquisition costs from manufacturers.
- Ability to effectively market products to the US market via a highly targeted public-relations, online, and traditional marketing campaign.
- An effective logistic system to handle all transportation and shipping from the acquisition of the Company's line of products to the delivery of goods to retailers and wholesalers.
- Experiences and motivated Founders, Cory Hoffman and Eric Wright.
- Provide high quality digital photos for customer to view merchandise online.

6.2 Basis for Growth

Real Man Design, Inc. will grow through three main avenues:

- The successful marketing and growth of the core TOOB-TOSS product line to the general public.
- Develop additional products that will compliment the Company's flagship TOOB-TOSS product line.
- Continued marketing of online platforms, which will generate substantial revenues for the business.

7.0 Marketing Plan

7.1 Marketing Objectives

- Establish a strong presence among toy product retailers and wholesalers (especially large big box stores).
- Develop strong relationships with sporting goods stores.
- Establish connections with overseas and North American and overseas based factories.
- Develop an Internet presence so that the Company can continually generate sales directly to customers.

7.3 Sales Assumptions

Year 1

- The Company will aggressively pursue its manufacturing and sales expansion program, and during early 2018, the Company will solidify its relationships with wholesale toy product distributors as well as big-box stores throughout the United States.
- Real Man Design, Inc. expects to achieve sales of $1.53 million in the first year of expanded operation.
- The Company's internet ordering platform is currently operational (www.toobtoss.com), and will be heavily marketed once inventory is acquired.

Year 2

- Management anticipates that it will expand its sales by 90% by significantly increasing the Company's marketing campaign via the expansion of the Company's online ordering platform while currently engaging a massive public relations campaign focused on the patented and unique nature of the TOOB-TOSS product line.
- Expected sales will reach $2.9 million dollars and gross profit will be about $1.59 million.

Years 3-5

- Real Man Design, Inc. will achieve $10 million of gross profits and $5.6 million of revenue by the end of the fifth year of operations.
- At this time, the Real Man Design will have developed several ongoing purchase order relationships with general product and sporting product distributors throughout the United States.

7.4 Marketing Strategies

Retail marketing will be the most difficult portion of the marketing strategy. This is because one of the essential elements to reaching a retail audience is that Real Man Design (through its TOOB-TOSS brand name) must build a brand affinity with the customer. Management fully expects to enlist the help of a marketing firm to reach the Company's targeted consumer base (as discussed in the fifth section of the business plan). Specialized toy sales is an extremely competitive market, and as such, the Management of Real Man Design, Inc. will need to develop a marketing program that creates a branded image edge over its competition.

The Company intends to have retailers such as Walmart, Target, SuperValu, Dick's, and related stores carry the Company's product lines. At the onset of operations, Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Wright will work closely with buyers at these firms in order to generate highly predictable purchase order agreements.

A presence on the Internet is also extremely important for Real Man Design, and the business (upon receiving its capital infusion) will expand its integrated social media and ecommerce platform (www.ToobToss.com) for the product line outlined in the third section of the business plan. The business will maintain a large social media presence on FaceBook, Twitter, and Instagram. The business will work closely with a social media consultant in order to ensure maximum visibility of its social media postings. In regards to the Company's website, the business will hire a search engine optimization firm that will appropriately place linking texts on major web portals in order to increase the visibility of the Company's online ordering platform.

The website will allow clients to see the full inventory of the Company, and they can order the merchandise they need in an effective manner. This will allow the Company to focus less allocation towards maintaining a full service call center. Beyond the Company's proprietary website, the business will maintain sales channels on third party websites including Amazon.com, Walmart.com, eBay.com, and related online sales platforms.

Management will also hire a marketing firm to ensure that the business maintains maximum publicity for its TOOB-TOSS product line. This marketing firm will work closely with Management to ensure proper placement of print and media advertisements while concurrently managing the marketing messages contained within advertisements. Management will also send product samples to toy and game focused magazines and trade periodicals so that they write articles about the Company's products.

Real Man Design, Inc. will also frequently attend toy, game, and sporting product focused trade shows. The business will bring large inventories of samples that will be distributed to industry executives, journalists, and other professionals. At the onset of expanded operations, the business will attend at least five to six trade shows per year that are targeted at these communities.

7.5 Product Marketing

Using the aforementioned marketing strategies, Management will aggressively focus on the patented nature and ease of use of the Company's highly entertaining throwing toy. The business focuses on the healthy nature of the toy, easy of use, and usage among any person of any skill level.

7.6 Price

The Company anticipates that it will achieve gross margins of 50% for the merchandise that it sells. The retail sales price of the TOOB-TOSS product line is $19.99 to $24.99 per unit.

7.7 Distribution

Shipping logistics will be outsourced to a third party vendor. After an extensive financial analysis, it was found that it is far less risky and far more cost efficient to contract a private carrier, such as UPS or FedEx, to handle all matters relating to shipping. Both of these companies offer sophisticated and streamlined transportation management and delivery services to wholesaling businesses. Management is currently sourcing a number of manufacturers that can produce the Company's products with exacting quality standards.

8.0 Organizational Plan

8.1 Corporate Organization

The Company will be organized as follows:

8.2 Organizational Budget

8.2 Organizational Budget (Cont.)

9.0 Financial Plan

9.1 Underlying Assumptions

The Company has based its proforma financial statements on the following:

- Accounts receivables will not impact the Company's cash flow as all transactions are backed at the time products are delivered.
- Real Man Design, Inc. anticipates that its growth rate will be 61% per year during the first five years of operation.
- Management will acquire $250,000 of capital in order to commence revenue generating operations.

9.2 Financial Highlights

- Positive cash flow and profitability in each year of operation.
- The ability to create high gross margin cash flows through the Company's wholesale and retail distribution operations.
- A highly liquid inventory of operating assets and saleable inventory that can be easily divested to a third party within three months time.

9.3 Sensitivity Analysis

The Company's revenues are moderately sensitive to changes in the general economy. Toys and sporting equipment are not necessities. In times of economic recession, Real Man Design may experience a decline in its top line revenues as people reduce discretionary purchases. However, the Company's highly recurring purchase orders and low pricing point will ensure the Company's profitability on a year to year basis.

Appendix B - Critical Risks and Problems

Development Risk – Moderate

Management has patented and developed the TOOB-TOSS product line, and it is ready to be brought to the market on a national level. Once the Company receives its capital infusion, Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Wright can begin the large scale manufacturing process with distribution operations commencing a few months after the capital infusion is received.

Financing Risk – Moderate

Management will require $250,000 to bring the operations of Real Man Design, Inc. to profitability over the next five years of operations. These risks are ameliorated by the high margin income generated from the sale of the Company's patented products through distributors, wholesalers, and on the retail level.

Marketing Risk – Moderate

Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Wright intend to use the marketing strategies outline in the seventh section of the business plan to promote broad based awareness of Real Man Design, Inc. and its TOOB-TOSS product lines. However, these strategies are expensive and they may not yield the financial results anticipated in this business plan.

Management Risk – Low/Moderate

Mr. Cory Hoffman and Mr. Eric Wright, the Company's Founders, are properly qualified and experienced to operate Real Man Design, Inc. on a day to day basis. The Management Team is familiar with all operating aspects of managing this business including the complex manufacturing/inventory management and accounting issues that are faced by specialty product development and distribution businesses.

Valuation Risk – Low

The risk that the investor pays too much for the venture is offset by:

- Investor funds will primarily be invested in liquid, in-demand merchandise.
- The Company's growth rate will create value and equity in the business very quickly.
- Real Man Design, Inc. can divest its saleable inventory within three months in the event of liquidation.

Exit Risk - Low

There is a great demand for established toy product manufacturing and trading businesses and Management feels that the full sale of all Company assets could occur within one year of marketing the Company for sale. Real Man Design, Inc. would most likely solicit the help of a qualified business broker to manage the transaction.
